*WHEELING VA:-WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 19, 1859. LARGEST DAILY, TRI-WEEKLY, AND WEEKLY CIRCULATION, OF ANY PAPER IN WHEELING.

Our paper is, to a large extent, occupied thismorning with the details of the Harper's Ferry riots. Amidst a great deal that is interesting and exciting, we have screeely anything that is satisfactory and conclusive as to what was the origin aim and end of the whole movement .-It seems that Ossawatomie Brown, a notorious Kansas desperado, who for a long time past has led a roving and plundering life, at the head of some chanditti, in that Territory, had lately come and settled near Harper's Ferry, with the avowed purpose of getting up an insurrection there which should extend throughout Maryland and this State. This is to be inferred from what the despatches say on the subject, yet it appears so perfectly unreasonable, wild and insane, that one can hardly suppose that such was the dream of even a fanatical renegade like Brown. He certainly has had too much to do with warfare life not to know how suicidal such a project would be. The idea of anything save a mad house lunatic ever expecting to organize a wide spread insurrection at the head of a raw, improvised band of fifteen or twenty white men and five or ten negroes, on a public throughfare, easily accessible by telegraph and railroad to important and powerful military aid, is too wild and foolish for rational belief.

It may be, and we think it is probable that it is so, that a disaffection existed at the Armory among many, or all the operatives, on account of back pay, or some other cause, as mentioned in our dispatches yesterday morning, and that Brown, knowing of this disaffection, took the opportunity to foster it and turn it to account for his ulterior design of getting up a negro rebellion. This may be, we say-but even this is the merest supposition. We can see no satisfactory explanation, as we said at the outset, of the whole matter, from anything that we have received up to this writing.

THE Manchester (Eng.) Guardian publishes a letter to the Secretary of the Northern Reform Union from Lord Teynham, in which he boldly announces that, whatever may be the opinions of his brother Peers on the subject, he is in favor of giving a vote to every Englishman who has reached the age of 21, and who is capable of reading his extraordinary effusion. The noble Lord points out that every Briton is 'surrounded by the shield of the law' from a period even anterior to his birth down to the moment he ceases to exist; nay, he goes further than this, for 'after death the laws of the country protect the sacredness of the Englishman's tomb.' He is also taxed, 'directly or indirectly,' from the time he first sees light, and His Lordship exclaims triumphantly, 'He whose life on earth is thus acted upon by Parliament, is justly entitled to have a voice in choosing his own representative in that assembly!' The only qualifications he requires are those we have mentioned, that a man shall be of legal ago and that he shall be able to read." The Generation intimates that His Lordship is a Know Nothing, and is surprised that his friends allowed him to appear in

PAGE'S painting of "Venus leading Eneas to the Latin shore," is now on exhibition (as we noticed the other day,) at the Dusseldorf Gallery, in New York. This is the famous painting which was refused admission to the exhibition at Paris, lo It represents a nude Venus, standing in a shell, drawn by doves, and urged along by a brace of fat and callow cupids. Trojan vessels, hearing Eneas and his friends, are in the distance. The thought is said to be obscurely and imperfectly expressed, as Eneas and the other accessories are but faintly hinted at. The painting might bear any other name as well .-The figure of Venus is finely drawn-the flesh coloring is wonderful. The painting, as a work of art, says the N. Y. Commercial, is otherwise altogether remarkable

THE Clevelanders were entertained last week with a Canada elopement, a young girl of sweet sixteen and a gray but wealthy old man of sixty being the principal parties in interest. The girl arrived first with a scanty wardrobe but plenty of money, and a week's fixing up but her in excellent trim to receive "her uncle," who had hardly arrived before another old man in baggy trousers, a red blanket coat and a slight Yorkshire accent, came down to claim his daughter. The two old men had a conference, the result of which was that the injured father went home and the loving pair continued their jour-

A couple of women, quarrelling for place and power in the fanoy needle work department of the Canada Provincial fair at Kingston, last week, came near breaking up the show-the husband of one of them removing his articles from exhibition, thus taking away the most of the mechanical department.

Tue papers talk about "our relations with Mexico." The United States do not appear to have any relations in Mexico, we should judge, by the way Mexico treats our government.

It is always best to play to win if you do play. The sporting men in Rochester, N. Y., think so, and take the necessary precautions. Upon some thinves arrested in that city recently, were found two packs of playing cards, accompanied by the following directions. The first is a printed slip, apparently sent by the manufacturers of the cards to the blackleg purchasers. It reads thus-

"FOR Size-Place the four Aces, Kings, Queens, &c., together. Look at the place markd Size, on the sample card sent-with this you will observe that there is a variation in each igure, commencing with the Ace, and so on down to the Deuce

When learnt, each card can be told, as well by the back as the face."

Another piece of paper containing additional directions, reads as follows: mnosed 83

"These are marked on the Spread principle. There is a wider space between the Bars at the place marked 1 for the Aces, at 2 for Kings, at 3 for Queens, at 4 for Jacks, &c. &c., down to the 2 spots. Learn well before playing."

THE Artesian Well has reached the depth of 2328 feet, and the indications are favorable for again striking a sandstone stratum, but this advantageous feature cannot be pushed to a realisation of everybody's wish, for the appropria-tion is exhausted, and the work will stop Saturday night, until the meeting of the legislature, when funds can be provided. This is unfortunate, for a stoppage of work is dangerous to the ultimate success of the undertaking, making the well liable to fill up, or other casualties may

We might; in this connection, mention the well in the West of Ireland, the wonderful depth of which was related to us by an enthusiastic Emeralder. He said it was so deep that three extensive rope-walks were busily employed three months making rope to reach the bottom, and then it was too short. .. A dozen men were engaged a week reeling out the rope, and the lower part was strongly impregnated with sulphur, while the extreme end was singed. This was too much for the well borers, and the work stopped. - Ohio State Journal.

THREE TAILORS .- "We, the people of England," said the three journeymen tailors who sent a petition to Parliament! "We the people of Ohio," said three cobblers of politics one day at the town of Wooster, introducing each other as Governor, Senator and President respectively, to an astonished audience. Behold Mr. Douglas walking to the edge of the platform with the modest Ranney. He opens his mouth. "Gentlemen, allow me to introduce to you the Honorable R. P. Ranney, the next Governor of Ohio!" The curtain falls on the pantomime, and rises again on a scene like this: Enter Ranney and Pugh. Ranney loquitur-"Gentlemen, allow me to introduce to you the Honorable George E. Pagh, the next United States Senator from Ohio!" Exeunt. Scene third: Senator from Ohio!" Excunt. Scene third: Return Douglas and Pugh. Pugh, loq.—"Gen-tlemen, allow me to introduce to you the Honorable Stephen A. Douglas, the next President of the United States!" We, the people of

The same untoward circumstances which has made false oracles of Douglas and Ranney, is universally conceded to have made the Pugh prophecy of none effect. The three tailors are stitched, pressed out and sponged. Each is a Sartor Resartus on his own hook. We-we, the people of England! - Chicago Press,

WE are sorry to withdraw the announcement from our columns that Mr. Prentice will lecture here on Friday evening next. The following note received from him yesterday will explain why he cannot fulfil his appointment:

JOURNAL OFFICE, Louisville, Ky., Oct. 16th, 1859. I am grieved to be compelled at last to give you the information that I cannot come to Wheeling. I find myself suddenly visited with symptoms of an old malady that afflicted me terribly a year ago, and I dare not leave home at present. I have infinite regard for your community, and I beg you to make my apology to just died, confessed to the particulars of the your and relatively and relative symptoms of an old malady that afflicted me Very truly, yours,

Ir is stated that the King of Sardinia contemplates conferring the Order of the Annunziata on those French Marshals who commanded in the late war. The Order is one of the oldest and most distinguished in Europe, and is generally accorded only to princes. There are in all, at present, only thirty-four members. It gives the possessor of it the title of "Cousin to the King," and confers upon him the privilege of sitting near his majesty in all official dinners at Court.

A New York correspondent of Dwight's Journal says: "Formes is expected here daily .-He does not intend to go into opera speculations, and his proposed company has proved a fizzle. He means to give concerts, most probably in conjunction with Anna Bishop and Arthur Napoleon. He refuses operatic engagements, and charges so much for a single night that it is not likely the managers will engage him. Thus he can devote all his energies to concertizing. He expects to make bushels of money."

M .- The rioters are entrenched in the armory, and hold the difficulty at Harper's Ferry, but as the Mr. Washington and Mr. Lafenferd as prison-The insurrectionists, commanded by Captain Brown, of Kansas notoriety, numbered originally 17 white men and 5 negroes, several of whem were shot. Two men of the Martins burg company were shot dead while charging patches to the effect that the rioters have been on the armory. A portion of the insurgents busily engaged in cutting down the telegraph left here under command of a leader named Cook, who, with a large party of slaves, is supposed to be moving toward Pennsylvania. Al. Also to the effect that the President had ordered len Evans, one of the insurrectionists, is lying the U.S. Marshal of Western Virginia (Jeff. in a dying condition here, having been shot Martin) to repair to the Ferry by this evening's through the breast. He is from Connecticut, but has been in Kansas. He says the whole scheme was got up by Brown, who represented that the negroes would rise by thousands, and that Maryland and Virginia would be made free States.

Col. Shriver, of Frederick, has just had an interview with Brown, in the Armory. He asked to be allowed to march out with his men, and averred his intention of defending himself to to have been killed. So quietly was it done, that the citizens knew nothing of it until the train was stopped. Col. Lee, who has arrived here, thinks there was an abundance of troops on hand to capture the rioters, and seems perfectly certain that the original party consisted of not more than twenty white men and five free negroes. Capt. Brown had been about here rendezvous of the rioters. Capt. Cook has also lived about here, and at one time taught a school. All the other white men are unknown they are supposed, however, to be men who have been connected with Brown, in Kansas.— It is reported, but not confirmed, that the riot ers have carried off a considerable amount of the Government funds. No attempt was made to pillage the town, or insult females. Capt Brown claims easy terms on account of his

HARPER'S FERRY, Oct. 18th - 8 o'clock P. M .-The conflict on the bridge was fought mainly by the railroad tonnage men from Martinsburg led by Captain Alberts. Eran Dorsey, a con ductor of the Railroad Company, was killed and conductors Bownan and Hollett were woun ded. No damage was done to the railroad or bridge by the rioters. It is supposed that the rioters will be tried under martial law as soon as captured and hung on the spot.

Six o'clock A. M.—The following is the special report received from the editor of the Baltimore American: - Preparations are now making for the attack on the Armory. The soldiers are posted all around the grounds and for the last our everything has been quiet. The rioters have still the following persons in their custody as prisoners: Armisted Ball, Chief Draughtman Armory; Benj. Mills, Master of Armory; John Dangerfield, Paymaster, and Clark Jerris Washington, a farmer and prominent citizen; John Alstadt, a farmer, and his son sixteen years old. The three last were seized on their farms, several miles from the Ferry. George Turner, a graduate of West Point, and one of the most distinguished citizens, was shot yes-terday whilst coming into town. He died during the night. He has a brother living in Baltimore. He married into the Patterson family. Three of the rioters are lying dead in the streets and there are also three in the river and several are said to be lying within the armory

The rioters have just sent out a flag of truce, saying if they are not protected by the soldiers here at present they will hang all they capture.

The rioters were brought out amidst the most intense excitement, many of the armed militia present tryng to get an opportunity to shoot them. Capt. rown and his son were both shot, -the latter is dead and the former dying. He lies in the Armory enclosure. He talks freely, and says that he is the old Ossawatomie Brown whose feats in Kansas had such wide notice. He says his whole object was to free the slaves, and justified his actions; -says that he had possession of the town and could have murdered all the people, and had been murdered in return. J. G. Armory enclosure. HARPER'S FERRY, Noon. - Soon after storming the armory four dead bodies of the insurgents who were shot yesterday, were found within the enclosure. Capt. Brown and his son are dangerously wounded. Only two of the insurgents are unwounded, via: Edwin Coppich, white, from Iowa, and Shields Green, colored, also from Iowa. The party originally consisted of twenty-two persons, of whom fifteen are killed, two mortally wounded, two unburt, and three escaped with the slaves on Monday. Soon after the assault on the armory, some firing took place from the hills on the Maryland shore, supposed to be a parting salute from Cook, who left on Monday morning. The fire was returned with a general voltey, but both parties were too distant to do any damage. A company of volunteers have gone in pursuit of the fugitives. There are probably a thousand armed men now congregated here.
